STATUTES

15 U.S.C. §78u-4(A)(4)21 ..... 21

15 U.S.C. § 78u-4(a)(6) ..... 4

Court-appointed Co-Lead Counsel Glancy Prongay & Murray LLP (“GPM”) and Pomerantz LLP (“Pomerantz” and together with GPM, “Lead Counsel”) respectfully request that the Court grant their motion for an award of attorneys’ fees in the amount of 33% of the Settlement Fund,<sup>1</sup> or $1,221,000 million plus interest earned at the same rate as the Settlement Fund.<sup>2</sup> Lead Counsel also seek reimbursement of: (i) $48,113.67 in litigation expenses that Lead Counsel reasonably and necessarily incurred in prosecuting and resolving the Action; and (ii) $6,000 ($3,000 each) in total costs and expenses incurred by the Court-appointed Lead Plaintiffs Robert Spock and Duck Pond Partners, LP, respectively, directly related to their representation of the Settlement Class, as authorized by the Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995 (the “PSLRA”).

I. PRELIMINARY STATEMENT

The proposed Settlement, which provides for a non-reversionary cash payment of $3.7 million in exchange for the resolution of the Action, represents an excellent result for the Settlement Class. In fact, the $3.7 million Settlement Amount represents approximately 32% of the total maximum damages potentially available in this Action. This result is even more outstanding when juxtaposed against the significant hurdles that Lead Plaintiffs would have had to overcome in order to prevail in this complex securities fraud litigation. In undertaking this litigation, Lead Counsel faced numerous challenges to establishing liability, loss causation and damages. The risk of losing was very real, and it was greatly enhanced by the fact that Lead Counsel would be litigating against <sup>1</sup> Unless otherwise defined, all capitalized terms used herein have the meanings ascribed to them in the Stipulation and Agreement of Settlement dated August 6, 2019 (ECF No. 55-8, the “Stipulation”) or the concurrently filed Declaration of Austin P. Van and Casey E. Sadler in Support of (1) Lead Plaintiffs’ Motion for Final Approval of Class Action Settlement and Plan of Allocation; and (2) Lead Counsel’s Motion for an Award of Attorneys’ Fees and Reimbursement of Litigation Expenses (“Joint Declaration” or “Joint Decl.”). All citations to “¶ ___” and “Ex. ___” in this memorandum refer, respectively, to paragraphs in, and Exhibits to, the Joint Declaration.

<sup>2</sup> The Notice informed the Settlement Class that Lead Counsel would apply to the Court for an award of attorneys’ fees in an amount not to exceed 33% of the Settlement Fund.

corporate defendants represented by highly-skilled defense counsel, under the heightened pleading standard of the PSLRA.

To obtain this excellent result on behalf of the Settlement Class, and despite the significant risks Lead Plaintiffs faced, Lead Counsel worked 650.45 hours over the course of the Action, all on a fully contingent basis with no guarantee of ever being paid. Lead Counsel believe that an attorney fee award of 33% properly reflects the many significant risks taken by Lead Counsel, as well as the excellent result achieved in a hard fought and difficult litigation. When examined under either the percentage of the fund or lodestar methods for calculating attorneys' fees, the requested fee is reasonable, and well within the range of attorneys' fees awarded in similar complex, contingency cases. In addition, the costs and expenses requested by Lead Plaintiffs and their counsel are likewise reasonable in amount, and they were necessarily incurred in the successful prosecution of the Action. Accordingly, they too should be approved.

II. FACTUAL AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY

The Joint Declaration is an integral part of this submission. For the sake of brevity in this memorandum, the Court is respectfully referred to it for a detailed description of, inter alia: the history of the Action; the nature of the claims asserted; the negotiations leading to the Settlement; the risks and uncertainties of continued litigation; and a description of the services Lead Counsel provided for the benefit of the Settlement Class.

III. ARGUMENT

A. The Common Fund Doctrine Applies to the Settlement

The Supreme Court has long recognized that “a litigant or a lawyer who recovers a common fund for the benefit of persons other than himself or his client is entitled to a reasonable attorney’s fee from the fund as a whole.” Boeing Co. v. Van Gemert, 444 U.S. 472, 478 (1980). The Second Circuit has confirmed that attorneys who create a “common fund” are entitled to “a reasonable fee – set by the court – to be taken from the fund.” Goldberger v. Integrated Res., Inc., 209 F.3d 43, 47 (2d Cir. 2000).

“The rationale for the doctrine is an equitable one: it prevents unjust enrichment of those benefitting from a lawsuit without contributing to its cost.” Goldberger, 209 F.3d at 47; In re Veeco Instruments Inc. Sec. Litig., No. 05 MDL 01695 (CM), 2007 WL 4115808, at *2 (S.D.N.Y. Nov. 7, 2007). Courts have also recognized that awards of reasonable “attorneys’ fees from a common fund serve to encourage skilled counsel to represent those who seek redress for damages inflicted on entire classes of persons, and to discourage future misconduct of a similar nature.” Veeco, 2007 WL 4115808, at *2; see also Hicks v. Morgan Stanley & Co., 01 Civ. 10071 (RJH), 2005 WL 2757792, at *9 (S.D.N.Y. Oct. 24, 2005).

For the common fund doctrine to apply, “the applicant’s efforts must confer a ‘substantial benefit on the members of an ascertainable class, and where the court’s jurisdiction over the subject matter of the suit makes possible an award that will operate to spread costs proportionately among them,’ an award of attorneys’ fees must operate to shift the costs of litigation to that group.” Maley v. Del Glob. Techs. Corp., 186 F. Supp. 2d 358, 369 (S.D.N.Y. 2002) (quoting Mills v. Elec. Auto-Lite Co., 396 U.S. 375, 393-94 (1970)). All these elements are present here: Lead Counsel’s efforts have conferred a substantial benefit ($3.7 million in cash) on an ascertainable class, and a fee award from the common fund will operate equitably “to shift the costs of litigation” to the benefitting group—the Settlement Class Members. Accordingly, the Court should award attorneys’ fees from the common fund.

B. The Court Should Award a Reasonable Percentage of the Common Fund

In the Second Circuit, courts “may award attorneys’ fees in common fund cases under either the ‘lodestar’ method or the ‘percentage of the fund’ method.” McDaniel v. Cnty. of Schenectady, 595 F.3d 411, 417 (2d Cir. 2010) (quoting Wal-Mart Stores, Inc. v. Visa U.S.A., Inc., 396 F.3d 96, 121 (2d Cir. 2005)). The Supreme Court has, however, suggested that in common fund cases the attorneys' fee should be determined on a percentage-of-recovery basis. See Blum v. Stenson, 465 U.S. 886, 900 n.16 (1984) (“[U]nder the ‘common fund doctrine,’ . . . a reasonable fee is based on a percentage of the fund bestowed on the class . . .”). Similarly, the “trend in this Circuit is toward the percentage method,” rather than the lodestar method. Wal-Mart, 396 F.3d at 121.

“There are several reasons that courts prefer the percentage method,” including, among others, the fact that it: (i) “directly aligns the interests of the class and its counsel because it provides an incentive to attorneys to resolve the case efficiently and to create the largest common fund out of which payments to the class can be made”; (ii) is “closely aligned with market practices because it mimics the compensation system actually used by individual clients to compensate their attorneys”; (iii) “provides a powerful incentive for the efficient prosecution and early resolution of litigation”; (iv) “discourages plaintiffs’ lawyers from running up their billable hours, one of the most significant downsides of the lodestar method”; and (v) “preserves judicial resources because it relieves the court of the cumbersome, enervating, and often surrealistic process of evaluating fee petitions.” Johnson v. Brennan, No. 10 Civ. 4712 (CM), 2011 WL 4357376, at *14-15 (S.D.N.Y. Sept. 16, 2011) (citations and quotation marks omitted). “In contrast, the lodestar [method] creates an unanticipated disincentive to early settlements, tempts lawyers to run up their hours, and compels district courts to engage in a gimlet-eyed review of line-item fee audits.” Wal-Mart, 396 F.3d at 121.

The percentage method also comports with the PSLRA, which states that “[t]otal attorneys’ fees and expenses awarded by the court to counsel for the plaintiff class shall not exceed a reasonable percentage of the amount of any damages and prejudgment interest actually paid to the class.” 15 U.S.C. § 78u-4(a)(6); see also In re EVCI Career Colls. Holding Corp. Sec. Litig., No. 05 Civ. 10240 CM, 2007 WL 2230177, at *16 (S.D.N.Y. July 27, 2007) (“the PSLRA implicitly supports the use of the percentage of the fund method”); In re WorldCom, Inc. Sec. Litig., 388 F. Supp. 2d 319, 355 (S.D.N.Y. 2005) (noting “the PSLRA’s express contemplation [of] the percentage method” in “calculate[ing] attorneys’ fees in securities fraud class actions”).

Use of the percentage method does not, however, render lodestar irrelevant. Rather, part of the reasonableness inquiry is a comparison of the lodestar to the fees awarded pursuant to the percentage of the fund method “[a]s a ‘cross-check.’” Wal-Mart, 396 F.3d at 123 (quoting Goldberger, 209 F.3d at 50). “[W]here [the lodestar method is] used as a mere cross-check, the hours documented by counsel need not be exhaustively scrutinized by the district court.” Goldberger, 209 F.3d at 50. “Instead, the reasonableness of the claimed lodestar can be tested by the court’s familiarity with the case” (id.), or “[t]he district courts [ ] may rely on summaries submitted by the attorneys and need not review actual billing records,” In re Rite Aid Corp. Sec. Litig., 396 F.3d 294, 306-07 (3d Cir. 2005); see also Davis v. J.P. Morgan Chase & Co., 827 F. Supp. 2d 172, 184 (W.D.N.Y. 2011); Johnson, 2011 WL 4357376, at *14-15 (“While courts still use the lodestar method as a ‘cross check’ when applying the percentage of the fund method, courts are not required to scrutinize the fee records as rigorously.”).

In sum, the weight of authority suggests that the Court should use the percentage-of-recovery method, with a lodestar cross-check, in determining a reasonable attorneys’ fee. See Bellifemine v. Sanofi-Aventis U.S. LLC, No. 07 Civ. 2207 (JGK), 2010 WL 3119374, at *6 (S.D.N.Y. Aug. 6, 2010) (“applying a lodestar ‘cross-check’”); In re Bristol-Myers Squibb Sec. Litig., 361 F. Supp. 2d 229, 233 (S.D.N.Y. 2005) (“Typically, courts utilize the percentage method and then ‘cross-check’ the adequacy of the resulting fee by applying the lodestar method.”); Hicks, 2005 WL 2757792, at *10 (similar).

C. The Requested Attorneys' Fees Are Reasonable

1. The Requested Attorneys' Fees Are Reasonable Under the Percentage-of-the-fund Method

The 33% fee requested by Lead Counsel is well within the range of percentage fees that have been awarded in the Second Circuit in comparable securities class actions. See In re Facebook, Inc. IPO Sec. & Deriv. Litig., No. 12-2389, 2015 WL 6971424, at *9, *11-*12 (S.D.N.Y. Nov. 9, 2015) (awarding 33% of $26.5 million); City of Providence v. Aeropostale, Inc., No. 11 Civ. 7132(CM)(GWG), 2014 WL 1883494, at *12 (S.D.N.Y. May 9, 2014), aff'd sub nom. Arbuthnot v. Pierson, 607 Fed. Appx. 73 (2d Cir. 2015) (awarding 33% of $15 million); Maley, 186 F. Supp. 2d at 370 (awarding 33.3% of $11.5 million settlement); McIntire v. China Media Express Holdings, Inc., No. 1:11-cv-00804-VM-GWG, slip op. at 2 (S.D.N.Y. Sep. 18, 2015) (awarding 33.33% of $12 million settlement) (Ex 7); In re van der Moolen Holding N.V. Sec. Litig., No. 1:03-cv-8284-RWS, slip op. at 2 (S.D.N.Y. Dec. 6, 2006), ECF No. 45 (awarding 33 1/3% of $8 million settlement fund) (Ex 8); Hayes v. Harmony Gold Mining Co., No. 08 Civ. 03653 (BSJ)(MHD), 2011 WL 6019219, at *1 (S.D.N.Y. Dec. 2, 2011) (awarding 33.3% of $9 million settlement fund), aff'd, 509 F. App'x 21 (2d Cir. 2013); Maley, 186 F. Supp. 2d at 370 (awarding 33.3% of $11.5 million settlement fund, where settlement was reached while motions to dismiss were pending).

Moreover, courts have repeatedly awarded similar fees where a settlement was reached during the pendency of a motion to dismiss or shortly after, and where no or very limited discovery had been obtained as a result of the PSLRA discovery stay. See e.g., Del Global, 186 F. Supp. 2d at 370 (awarding 33.3% of $11.5 million, representing a 4.65 multiplier, where settlement was reached while motions to dismiss were pending); In re Idreamsky Technology Limited Sec. Litig., 2018 WL 8950640, at *4 (S.D.N.Y. April 6, 2018) (awarding one-third of $4.15 million following decision on motion to dismiss, but prior to formal discovery); Schuler v. Medicines Co., No. 14-1149 (CCC), 2016 WL 3457218, at *2, 9, 11 (D.N.J. June 24, 2016) (awarding 33% of $4.25 million settlement, where settlement was reached while motion to dismiss was pending); Elkin v. Walter Investment Management Corp., 2018 WL 8951073, at *1 (E.D. Pa. 2018) (awarding one-third of $2,950,000 settlement in case that settled prior to a decision on the motion to dismiss); Taft v. Ackermans, No. 02 Civ. 7951 (PKL), 2007 WL 414493, at *10 (S.D.N.Y. Jan. 31, 2007) (awarding 30% of $15.2 million, where settlement was reached while motion to dismiss was pending).<sup>3</sup> Unlike these cases, Lead Plaintiffs had already advanced past the motion to dismiss stage and were beginning the discovery process.

One of the merits of awarding fees on a percentage basis is that it does not penalize attorneys for achieving a prompt resolution of a case, where, as here, Lead Counsel have developed sufficient information concerning the strengths and weaknesses of the case necessary to make an informed decision about the value of the claims. See Wal-Mart, 396 F.3d at 121 (one of the merits of the percentage method is that it “provides a powerful incentive for the efficient prosecution and early resolution of litigation”) (citation omitted); Savoie v. Merchs. Banks, 166 F.3d 456, 461 (2d Cir. 1999) (the percentage method “removes disincentives to prompt settlement”).

In sum, Lead Counsel’s request for a 33% attorneys’ fee is squarely within the range of fees awarded in the Second Circuit for comparable securities class actions.

2. The Lodestar “Cross-Check” Strongly Supports the Reasonableness of the Requested Fee

A lodestar “cross-check” confirms the reasonableness of the requested fee award. See

Supp. 2d 72, 80-81, 109 (D.N.J. 2001) (awarding one-third of $4.5 million settlement, representing a 3.57 multiplier, where settlement was reached prior to the filing of the motion to dismiss); Ray v. Lundstrom, No. 4:10CV3177, 2012 WL 5458425, at *5 (D. Neb. Nov. 8, 2012) (awarding one-third of $3.1 million, in case that settled before discovery).

Goldberger, 209 F.3d at 50. The “lodestar” is calculated by multiplying the number of hours expended on the litigation by each particular attorney or paralegal by their current reasonable and customary hourly rate, and totaling the amounts for all timekeepers.<sup>4</sup> Additionally, “[u]nder the lodestar method of fee computation, a multiplier is typically applied to the lodestar.” In re Global Crossing Sec. & ERISA Litig., 225 F.R.D. 436, 468 (S.D.N.Y. 2004). “The multiplier represents the risk of the litigation, the complexity of the issues, the contingent nature of the engagement, the skill of the attorneys, and other factors.” Id. (citing Goldberger, 209 F.3d at 47); Savoie, 166 F.3d at 460; see also In re Flag Telecom Holdings, Ltd. Sec. Litig., No. 02-CV-3400 (CM)(PED), 2010 WL 4537550, at *26 (S.D.N.Y. Nov. 8, 2010) (“[A] positive multiplier is typically applied to the lodestar in recognition of the risk of the litigation, the complexity of the issues, the contingent nature of the engagement, the skill of the attorneys, and other factors.”); In re Comverse Tech., Inc. Sec. Litig., No. 06-CV-1825 (NGG)(RER), 2010 WL 2653354, at *5 (E.D.N.Y. June 24, 2010) (“Where ... counsel has litigated a complex case under a contingency fee arrangement, they are entitled to a fee in excess of the lodestar”).

Here, Lead Counsel (including attorneys, paralegals, and professional support staff) collectively devoted a total of 650.45 hours to the prosecution of this Action, resulting in a lodestar of $445,526.25. ¶¶59-60. Based on a 33% fee (which would equate to approximately $1,221,000), Lead Counsel’s lodestar of $445,526.25 would yield a multiplier of 2.74. ¶60. This multiplier is well within the range of multipliers commonly awarded in securities class actions and other complex litigation. See Wal-Mart, 396 F.3d at 123 (upholding multiplier of 3.5 as reasonable on appeal); Del

<sup>4</sup> The Supreme Court and courts in this Circuit have both approved the use of current rates in the lodestar calculation to “compensate for the delay in receiving compensation, inflationary losses, and the loss of interest.” In re Union Carbide Corp. Consumer Prods. Bus. Sec. Litig., 724 F. Supp. 160, 163 (S.D.N.Y. 1989); Missouri v. Jenkins, 491 U.S. 274, 284 (1989).

Global, 186 F. Supp. 2d at 369 (awarding fee equal to a 4.65 multiplier, which was “well within the range awarded by courts in this Circuit and courts throughout the country”); In re Bisys Sec. Litig., No. 04 Civ. 3840 (JSR), 2007 WL 2049726, at *3 (S.D.N.Y. July 16, 2007) (finding that a 2.99 multiplier “falls well within the parameters set in this district and elsewhere”); Davis, 827 F. Supp. 2d at 185 (awarding fee representing a multiplier of 5.3, which was “not atypical” in similar cases).<sup>5</sup>

In sum, Lead Counsel’s requested fee award is within the range of what courts in this Circuit regularly award in class actions such as this one, whether calculated as a percentage of the fund or in relation to Lead Counsel’s lodestar. Moreover, as discussed below, each of the factors established by the Second Circuit in Goldberger supports a finding that the requested fee is reasonable.

D. The Goldberger Factors Confirm the Requested Fee Is Fair and Reasonable

The Second Circuit has set forth the following criteria that courts should consider when reviewing a request for attorneys’ fees in a common fund case:

- (1) the time and labor expended by counsel;
- (2) the magnitude and complexities of the litigation;
- (3) the risk of the litigation;
- (4) the quality of representation;
- (5) the requested fee in relation to the settlement; and
- (6) public policy considerations.

Goldberger, 209 F.3d at 50 (internal quotes and citation omitted). Consideration of these factors, together with the analyses above, demonstrates that the requested fee is reasonable.

1. The Time and Labor Expended Support the Requested Fee

The time and effort expended by Lead Counsel in prosecuting the Action and achieving the Settlement supports the requested fee. As set forth in greater detail in the Joint Declaration, Lead Counsel's work on this matter included, among other things:

- conducting an extensive investigation of the claims asserted in the Action, which included a detailed review of SEC filings, press releases, analyst reports, news reports and other public information, hiring and working with a private investigator to locate and conduct interviews with former Rockwell employees, and consultation with damages and loss causation experts (§7(i));
- researching and drafting the detailed Consolidated Amended Class Action Complaint ("Complaint") based on their investigation (§7(ii), 15-17);
- researching and drafting Lead Plaintiffs' persuasive responses to Defendants' motion to dismiss arguments addressed in Defendants' letters to the Court requesting leave to file a motion to dismiss (§7(iii), 20-24);
- consulting extensively with experts on damages and loss causation issues in connection with preparing for settlement negotiations (§7(i));
- engaging in a mediation process overseen by Jed D. Melnick, Esq. of JAMS, which involved extensive written submissions concerning liability and damages and a full-day formal mediation session (§7(v), 7(vi), 26);
- negotiating and drafting the Stipulation and related settlement documents (§7(vii), 26);
- drafting the preliminary approval motion papers (§7(vii));
- working with one of Lead Plaintiffs' damages experts to prepare the proposed Plan of Allocation (§9); and
- overseeing the notice process that was approved by the Court (§7(viii)).

Moreover, the legal work on this case will not end with the Court's approval of the proposed Settlement. Additional hours and resources will necessarily be expended assisting Settlement Class Members with their Proof of Claim forms, responding to Settlement Class Members' inquiries, shepherding the claims process to conclusion and filing a distribution motion. No additional compensation will be sought for this work. See Facebook, 2015 WL 6971424, at *10 ("Considering that the work in this matter is not yet concluded for Lead Counsel who will necessarily need to oversee the claims process, respond to inquiries, and assist Class Members in submitting their Proof of Claims, the time and labor expended by counsel in this matter support a conclusion that a 33% fee award in this matter is reasonable.”).

The substantial time and effort devoted to this case by Lead Counsel to obtain the $3.7 million Settlement confirms that the fee request is reasonable.

2. The Risks of the Litigation Support the Requested Fee

“[T]he risk of success [is] ‘perhaps the foremost’ factor to be considered in determining” a reasonable award of attorneys’ fees. Goldberger, 209 F.3d at 54; see also Shapiro v. JPMorgan Chase & Co., No. 11 Civ. 8331 (CM)(MHD), 2014 WL 1224666, at *21 (S.D.N.Y. Mar. 24, 2014) (“The Second Circuit long ago recognized that courts should consider the risks associated with lawyers undertaking a case on a contingent fee basis.”). This is because “[n]o one expects a lawyer whose compensation is contingent upon his success to charge, when successful, as little as he would charge a client who in advance had agreed to pay for his services, regardless of success. Nor, particularly in complicated cases producing large recoveries, is it just to make a fee depend solely on the reasonable amount of time expended.” City of Detroit v. Grinnell Corp., 495 F.2d 448, 470 (2d Cir. 1974) (citation omitted). In applying this factor, courts have repeatedly recognized that “class actions confront even more substantial risks than other forms of litigation,” Comverse, 2010 WL 2653354, at *5 (citation omitted), and that “[s]ecurities class actions such as this are ‘notably difficult and notoriously uncertain.’” Flag Telecom, 2010 WL 4537550, at *27 (citations omitted).<sup>6</sup>

This case was no different.

<sup>6</sup> See also Teachers’ Ret. Sys. of La. v. A.C.L.N., Ltd., No. 01 Civ. 11814 (MP), 2004 WL 1087261, at *3 (S.D.N.Y. May 14, 2004) (“Little about litigation is risk-free, and class actions confront even more substantial risks than other forms of litigation.”).

From the outset of this Action, Lead Counsel understood they were embarking on a complex, expensive, and potentially lengthy litigation with no guarantee of ever being compensated for the substantial investment of time and money the case would require. In undertaking that responsibility, counsel were obligated to ensure that sufficient resources were dedicated to the prosecution of the Action, and that funds were available to compensate staff and to cover the considerable costs that a case such as this requires. See Flag Telecom, 2010 WL 4537550, at *27. Lead Counsel received no compensation during the litigation, and they advanced or incurred $48,113.67 in expenses in prosecuting this Action for the benefit of the Settlement Class. ¶¶72, 73, 76. Had Lead Counsel not achieved the Settlement, this significant investment of time and money would have been lost.

As discussed below and in the Joint Declaration, while Lead Plaintiffs remain confident in their ability to prove their claims and rebut Defendants' arguments, the pursuit of this case has revealed meaningful potential barriers to recovery. Obstacles included both the well-known general risks of complex securities litigation, as well as the specific risks inherent in this case. ¶¶29-39; see also Alaska Elec. Pension Fund v. Flowserve Corp., 572 F.3d 221, 235 (5th Cir. 2009) (O'Connor, J. (Ret.)) ("To be successful, a securities class-action plaintiff must thread the eye of a needle made smaller and smaller over the years by judicial decree and congressional action.").

This Action presented a number of substantial risks to establishing liability and damages. To start, Lead Plaintiffs would have faced significant hurdles in proving liability. First, Defendants asserted, among other things, that Lead Plaintiffs could not allege a material misstatement or omission. ¶30. Defendants argued that the claims failed because the Center for Medicare & Medicaid Innovation ("CMMI") had not given Rockwell a final answer regarding Rockwell's proposed model and that Rockwell had not exhausted other opportunities to obtain separate reimbursement for Triferic and that as such, they had a good faith basis to believe that Triferic could still be approved for separate reimbursement by Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services (“CMS”). ¶¶30-31. Defendants likewise argued that their statements addressing their inventory reserves were not actionable for failing to disclose that they would have to be written off since such estimates are inherently subjective. ¶30. Defendants also argued that their statements in their Q3 2017 10-Q and 2017 10-K regarding the adequacy of Rockwell’s internal controls were not false, as Lead Plaintiffs failed to allege that Rockwell had inadequate controls prior to the first quarter of 2018. Id. While Lead Plaintiffs disagree with these arguments and felt they had strong counter arguments, it is far from certain that Lead Plaintiffs would have prevailed at summary judgment and trial in proving falsity.

Defendants also argued that Plaintiffs had failed adequately to allege scienter. ¶31. Notably, Defendants argued that as their lobbyist was optimistic that additional efforts would result in approval of separate reimbursement for Triferic, Defendants had a good faith basis to state that they believed that result was likely. Id. Moreover, they argued that their good faith basis was further supported by the fact that they had “key supporters in Congress and other influential agencies.” Id.

Lead Plaintiffs would also have confronted considerable challenges in establishing loss causation and damages. See Dura Pharm., Inc. v. Broudo, 544 U.S. 336, 345-46 (2005) (plaintiffs bear the burden of proving “that the defendant’s misrepresentations ‘caused the loss for which the plaintiff seeks to recover’”). While Lead Plaintiffs would have argued that the declines in Rockwell’s stock price were attributable to corrections of the alleged misstatements and omissions concerning Rockwell’s financial statements, Defendants would have asserted that much of the decline was due to other negative news, and that even if some portion of the decline in Rockwell’s stock price was caused by corrective disclosures, damages were minimal. ¶33. Defendants almost certainly would have presented their own damages expert(s), who would have no doubt presented conflicting conclusions and theories for Rockwell's price declines on the disclosure dates. ¶35.

Furthermore, Defendants would almost certainly have challenged Lead Plaintiffs' expert(s) at the class certification stage, summary judgment, with Daubert motions, and at trial and appeal. ¶35. This "battle of the experts" creates an additional litigation risk because the reaction of a trier of fact to such expert testimony is highly unpredictable and there is no certainty that the judge or jury might not credit the analysis of Defendants' competing experts. See In re Cendant Corp. Litig., 264 F.3d 201, 239 (3d Cir. 2001) ("[E]stablishing damages at trial would lead to a 'battle of experts' with each side presenting its figures to the jury and with no guarantee whom the jury would believe."); Connectivity Sys. Inc. v. Nat'l City Bank, No. 2:08-CV-1119, 2011 WL 292008, at *2 (S.D. Ohio Jan. 26, 2011) (finding that "[a]cceptance of expert testimony is always far from certain, no matter how qualified the expert, inevitably leading to a 'battle of the experts,'" and that this uncertainty supported approval of a settlement).

Moreover, Lead Plaintiffs still faced the substantial burdens of a class certification motion, summary judgment motions, trial and likely appeals – a process which could possibly extend for years and might lead to a smaller recovery, or no recovery at all. ¶38. Indeed, even prevailing at trial would not have guaranteed a recovery larger than the $3.7 million Settlement. See Glickenhau & Co. v. Household Int'l, Inc., 787 F.3d 408 (7th Cir. 2015), reh'g denied (July 1, 2015) (reversing jury verdict awarding investors $2.46 billion on loss causation and damages grounds and remanding for a new trial on these issues); Robbins v. Koger Props., Inc., 116 F.3d 1441 (11th Cir. 1997) (jury verdict of $81 million for plaintiffs against an accounting firm reversed on appeal on loss causation grounds and judgment entered for defendant); In re BankAtlantic Bancorp, Inc. Sec. Litig., No. 07-61542-CIV, 2011 WL 1585605, at *20-22 (S.D. Fla. Apr. 25, 2011) (following a jury verdict in plaintiffs' favor on liability, the district court granted defendants' motion for judgment as a matter of law because there was insufficient evidence to support a finding of loss causation), aff'd, Hubbard v. BankAtlantic Bancorp, Inc., 688 F.3d 713 (11th Cir. 2012).

Despite the many uncertainties regarding the outcome of the case, Lead Counsel undertook this case on a wholly contingent basis, knowing that the litigation could last for years and would require the devotion of a substantial amount of time and a significant expenditure of litigation expenses. ¶10. Lead Counsel's assumption of this contingency fee risk strongly supports the reasonableness of the requested fee. See Flag Telecom, 2010 WL 4537550, at *27 ("Courts in the Second Circuit have recognized that the risk associated with a case undertaken on a contingent fee basis is an important factor in determining an appropriate fee award."); In re Marsh ERISA Litig., 265 F.R.D. 128, 148 (S.D.N.Y. 2010) ("There was significant risk of non-payment in this case, and Plaintiffs' Counsel should be rewarded for having borne and successfully overcome that risk.").

3. The Magnitude and Complexity of the Action Support the Requested Fee

Courts have repeatedly recognized the "notorious complexity" of securities class action litigation. In re AOL Time Warner, Inc. Sec. & "ERISA" Litig., No. MDL 1500, 2006 WL 903236, at *8 (S.D.N.Y. Apr. 6, 2006); Taft, 2007 WL 414493 at *10; La. Mun. Police Emps. Ret. Sys. v. Sealed Air Corp., No. 03-CV-4372 (DMC), 2009 WL 4730185, at *8 (D.N.J. Dec. 4, 2009) ("securities class actions are inherently complex"). Courts have also recognized that "securities actions have become more difficult from a plaintiff's perspective in the wake of the PSLRA," and other changes in the law. In re Ikon Office Solutions, Inc. Sec. Litig., 194 F.R.D. 166, 194 (E.D. Pa. 2000); see also AOL Time Warner, 2006 WL 903236, at *9 ("[T]he legal requirements for recovery under the securities laws present considerable challenges, particularly with respect to loss causation and the calculation of damages. These challenges are exacerbated . . . where a number of controlling decisions have recently shed new light on the standard for loss causation."). Such was the case here.

As noted above and in the Joint Declaration, the litigation raised a number of complex questions concerning liability and loss causation issues that would have required extensive efforts by Lead Counsel and consultation with multiple experts to bring to resolution. ¶¶30-36. To build the case, Lead Counsel were, among other things, required to: (i) conduct an extensive factual investigation, which included interviews with numerous former Rockwell employees, significant time consulting with loss causation and damages experts, and a broad review of all publicly available information; (ii) prepare an amended complaint with sufficient detail to overcome the heightened pleading standard of the PSLRA; (iii) respond to Defendants' request for permission to file a motion to dismiss; and (iv) submit a written mediation statement and make presentations to a well-respected and inquisitive mediator concerning Lead Plaintiffs' theories of liability, damages, loss causation and ability to pay. ¶7(i)-(ix), 15-17, 20-24, 26. If the Action had not been settled, there would have been copious amounts of additional litigated discovery; depositions of fact and expert witnesses; additional motion practice; a trial; post-trial motion practice; and mostly likely appeals. ¶38.

Accordingly, the magnitude and complexity of the Action supports the conclusion that the requested fee is fair and reasonable. See City of Providence, 2014 WL 1883494, at *16 (“the complex and multifaceted subject matter involved in a securities class action such as this supports the fee request.”).

4. The Quality of Lead Counsel's Representation Supports the Requested Fee

The quality of the representation by Lead Counsel is another important factor that supports the reasonableness of the requested fee. Lead Counsel submit that the quality of their representation is best evidenced by the quality of the result achieved. See Veeco, 2007 WL 4115808, at *7; Global Crossing, 225 F.R.D. at 467. Here, the Settlement provides a very favorable result for the Settlement Class in light of the serious risks of continued litigation. In particular, if Lead Plaintiffs had fully prevailed in each of their claims at both summary judgment and after a jury trial, if the Court certified the same class period as the Settlement Class Period, and if the Court and jury accepted Lead Plaintiffs' damages theory, including proof of loss causation as to each of the stock price drop dates alleged in this case—i.e., Lead Plaintiffs' best-case scenario, estimated total maximum damages is approximately $11.3 million. ¶6. Thus, the $3.7 million Settlement Amount represents approximately 32% of the total maximum damages potentially available in this Action. Id. In comparison, the median recovery in securities class actions with less than $20 million in estimated damages was 19.4% in 2018 and the median settlement value for all actions was only approximately 2.6% of estimated damages. See Ex. 4 (Stefan Boettrich and Svetlana Staykh, Recent Trends in Securities Class Action Litigation: 2018 Full-Year Review (NERA Jan. 29, 2019) at p. 35 (Fig. 27), p. 36 (Fig. 28)).

Lead Counsel respectfully submit that the quality of their efforts in the litigation to date, together with their substantial experience in securities class actions and commitment to this litigation, provided Lead Counsel with the leverage necessary to negotiate the Settlement. See Exs. 5-C & 6-C (firm resumes of GPM and Pomerantz); see Wilson v. LSB Industries, Inc. et. al., Case No. 1:15-cv-07614-RA-GWG (S.D.N.Y.) (GPM achieving $18.45 million settlement in securities class action where the firm served as lead counsel pursuant to PSLRA); In re Petrobras Sec. Litig., Case No. 1:14-cv-09662-JSR (S.D.N.Y.) (Pomerantz achieving $3 billion settlement in securities class action where the firm served as lead counsel pursuant to PSLRA).

Courts have also recognized that the quality of the opposition faced by plaintiffs' counsel should be taken into consideration in assessing the quality of the counsel's performance. See, e.g., Veeco, 2007 WL 4115808, at *7 (among factors supporting the award of attorneys' fees was that defendants were represented by "one of the country's largest law firms"); In re Adelphia Commc'ns

Corp. Sec. & Derivative Litig., No. 03 MDL 1529 LMM, 2006 WL 3378705, at *3 (S.D.N.Y. Nov. 16, 2006) (“The fact that the settlements were obtained from defendants represented by ‘formidable opposing counsel from some of the best defense firms in the country’ also evidences the high quality of lead counsels’ work”) (citation omitted), aff’d, 272 F. App’x 9 (2d Cir. 2008). Here, Defendants were represented by Gibson, Dunn & Crutcher LLP, and Goodwin Proctor LLP, both of which are accomplished law firms that vigorously represented the interests of their clients throughout this Action. ¶63. Notwithstanding this formidable opposition, Lead Counsel’s thorough investigation, ability to present a strong case, and demonstrated willingness to vigorously prosecute the Action enabled Lead Counsel to achieve the favorable Settlement. Id. Consequently, this factor militates in favor of the requested fee.

5. The Requested Fee in Relation to the Settlement Amount

Courts have interpreted this factor as requiring the review of the fee requested in terms of the percentage it represents of the total recovery. “When determining whether a fee request is reasonable in relation to a settlement amount, ‘the court compares the fee application to fees awarded in similar securities class-action settlements of comparable value.’” Comverse, 2010 WL 2653354, at *3 (citation omitted). As discussed in detail in Section III.C.1 supra, the requested 33% fee is well within the range of percentage fees that courts in the Second Circuit have awarded in comparable cases. Accordingly, the fee requested is reasonable in relation to the Settlement.

6. Public Policy Considerations Support the Requested Fee

“In considering an award of attorney’s fees, the public policy of vigorously enforcing the federal securities laws must be considered.” Del Global, 186 F. Supp. 2d at 373. This is because private actions such as this one serve to further the objective of the federal securities laws to protect investors. “[The Supreme] Court has long recognized that meritorious private actions to enforce federal antifraud securities laws are an essential supplement to criminal prosecutions and civil enforcement actions brought, respectively, by the Department of Justice and the Securities and Exchange Commission.” Tellabs, Inc. v. Makor Issues & Rights, Ltd., 551 U.S. 308, 313 (2007). If the “important public policy [of enforcing the securities laws] is to be carried out, the courts should award fees which will adequately compensate Lead Counsel for the value of their efforts, taking into account the enormous risks they undertook.” Flag Telecom, 2010 WL 4537550, at *29. “[A]s a practical matter, lawsuits such as this one can only be maintained if competent counsel can be retained to prosecute them. This will occur if courts award reasonable and adequate compensation for such services where successful results are achieved.” City of Providence, 2014 WL 1883494, at *18; see also Hicks, 2005 WL 2757792, at *9. Consequently, public policy considerations favor Lead Counsel’s attorneys’ fee request. See In re China Sunergy Sec. Litig., No. 07 Civ. 7895 (DAB), 2011 WL 1899715, at *6 (S.D.N.Y. May 13, 2011) (“The Court finds that public policy supports granting attorneys’ fees that are sufficient to encourage plaintiffs’ counsel to bring securities class actions that supplement the efforts of the SEC.”).

7. The Reaction of the Settlement Class to Date Support the Requested Fee

The overwhelmingly positive reaction of the Settlement Class to date also supports the requested fee. See Flag Telecom, 2010 WL 4537550, at *29 (“numerous courts have noted that the lack of objection from members of the class is one of the most important factors in determining the reasonableness of a requested fee.”). Through January 21, 2020, Strategic Claims Services (“SCS”), the Claims Administrator, caused 7,650 copies of the Postcard Notice to be sent to potential Settlement Class Members and nominees and 2,416 potential Settlement Class Members to be informed by electronic mail, informing them, among other things, that Lead Counsel intended to apply to the Court for an award of attorneys’ fees in an amount not to exceed 33% of the Settlement Fund, up to $75,000 in Litigation Expenses, and up to $10,000 as reimbursement of costs and expenses incurred by Lead Plaintiffs. Ex. 3 (“Bravata Decl.”) at ¶7. While the time to object to the Fee and Expense Application does not expire until February 5, 2020, to date, not a single objection has been received. ¶¶48, 69. The lack of objections is “strong evidence” of the reasonableness of the fee request. Ressler v. Jacobson, 149 F.R.D. 651, 656 (M.D. Fla. 1992).<sup>7</sup>

E. Lead Counsel’s Expenses Are Reasonable and Were Necessarily Incurred To Achieve The Benefit Obtained

Lead Counsel also request reimbursement of $48,113.67 in expenses incurred while prosecuting the Action. In support of this request, Lead Counsel have submitted separate declarations attesting to the accuracy of these expenses, which are properly recovered by counsel. See Exs. 5 & 6; see also Flag Telecom, 2010 WL 4537550, at *30 (“It is well accepted that counsel who create a common fund are entitled to the reimbursement of expenses that they advanced to a class”); In re Indep. Energy Holdings PLC Sec. Litig., 302 F. Supp. 2d 180, 183 n.3 (S.D.N.Y. 2003) (court may compensate class counsel for reasonable out-of-pocket expenses necessary to the representation of the class). A significant portion of the expenses were incurred for professional services rendered by Lead Plaintiffs’ experts, investigator, and the mediator, and the remaining expenses are attributable to filing fees, the costs of copying documents, legal and factual research, travel and other incidental expenses incurred in the course of the litigation. ¶¶73, 77-79. These expenses were critical to Lead Plaintiffs’ success in achieving the proposed Settlement, are reasonable in amount, and are customary and necessary expenses for a complex securities action. As such, they should be reimbursed. See Flag Telecom, 2010 WL 4537550, at *30; Global Crossing, 225 F.R.D. at 468 (“The expenses incurred-which include investigative and expert witnesses, filing fees, service of process, travel, legal research and document production and review-are the type for which ‘the paying, arms’ length market’ reimburses attorneys. For this reason, they are properly chargeable to the Settlement fund.”) (citation omitted). Additionally, no objections to the expense request have been received, and the amount requested is below the $75,000 limit disclosed in the Notice. See ¶75; Ex. 3-D. Accordingly, Lead Counsel respectfully request payment for these expenses.

F. Lead Plaintiffs Should Be Awarded Their Reasonable Costs and Expenses Under 15 U.S.C. §78u-4(A)(4)

In connection with their request for reimbursement of Litigation Expenses, Lead Counsel also seek reimbursement of a total of $6,000 in costs and expenses incurred directly by Lead Plaintiffs Robert Spock ($3,000) and Duck Pond Partners, LP ($3,000). ¶74. The PSLRA specifically provides that an “award of reasonable costs and expenses (including lost wages) directly relating to the representation of the class” may be made to “any representative party serving on behalf of a class.” 15 U.S.C. § 78u-4(a)(4).

Here, Lead Plaintiffs took an active role in the litigation by, among other things, reviewing all significant pleadings and briefs in the Action, communicating regularly with Lead Counsel regarding developments in the Action, monitoring the progress of settlement negotiations, and approving the Settlement. See Exs. 1 & 2. These are “precisely the types of activities that support awarding reimbursement of expenses to class representatives.” In re Marsh & McLennan Cos. Sec. Litig., No. 04 Civ. 8144 (CM), 2009 WL 5178546, at *21 (S.D.N.Y. 2009). Accordingly, Lead Counsel respectfully request that the Court grant Lead Plaintiffs’ requests for reimbursement of “their reasonable costs and expenses incurred in managing this litigation and representing the Class.” Marsh & McLennan, 2009 WL 5178546, at *21; see also In re Bank of Am. Corp. Sec., Derivative, & Emp. Ret. Income Sec. Act (ERISA) Litig., 772 F.3d 125, 132 (2d Cir. 2014) (affirming PSLRA award of $453,003.04 to representative plaintiffs); Veeco, 2007 WL 4115808, at *12 (awarding lead plaintiff $15,900 for time spent supervising litigation, and characterizing such awards as “routine” in this Circuit); In re Gilat Satellite Networks, Ltd., No. CV-02-1510 (CPS)(SMG), 2007 WL 2743675, at *19 (E.D.N.Y. Sept. 18, 2007) (granting PSLRA awards where “the tasks undertaken by employees of Lead Plaintiffs reduced the amount of time those employees would have spent on other work and these tasks and rates appear reasonable to the furtherance of the litigation”).

IV. CONCLUSION

For the foregoing reasons, Lead Counsel respectfully request that the Court grant their fee and expense application.
